(Quantity pricing available) Call for availability of other language sets.

Conversion labels let your own keyboard "speak" a second language.

Convert your English keyboard to your choice of additional languages. With these language labels, you get all the correct characters, diacritical marks, accented vowels and punctuation symbols you need-while still being able to use the keyboard of your choice. These transparent second language characters are positioned so you can still see the original language character underneath. Hooleon Language Label Kits are based on the DOS and Windows character set configurations you see on the screen or printed page as recommended by Microsoft Corp. and IBM (or by the prevailing standards for the individual language or alphabet). The label kits fit laptops, IBM, and most look-a-like desktop keyboards.
